

I'm Sorry (You Don't Want Me to Share)

–Jay Memory

What in the wide–world she said
You got goin' on in that head?
Make you run around like that
Scratchin' up trouble like a wild cat

Woman Look!
I'm cookin' up what a man cooks
& if you gotsta understand
My mind it works like a funk band
Playin' on a river boat late at night
Randomness in tune with a groooove –
That's "out of sight"

She said, boy don't hand me no line
I have been a witness for a long time
& if your world is as you claim
Why don't your poetry speak my name – boy?

I said, Woman Stop!
I've got your poem it's about to pop...
Roses are red, Violets are blue
Cut my head off & stick it on you
Then you can think all that I think
Walk in my shoes for a "cold stiff drank"

*Baby I'm sorry
Baby just hold me
No need to un-load me
It's my burden to bear
Baby I'm learnin'
The wheels you see turnin'
The depths I'm enduring
You don't want me to share*

When you're fast asleep at night
That's when the Boogie-man comes to fight
"Mano-a-Mano" in my brain
Girl, He only speaks my name

I don't wake you up to see
The battle that's goin' inside of me
How could you possibly understand?
You are a women & I am a man

Baby I'm sorry
Baby just hold me
No need to un-load me
It's my burden to bear
Baby I'm learnin'
The wheels you see turnin'
The depths I'm enduring
You don't want me to share

Baby I'm sorry
Baby just hold me
No need to un-load me
It's my burden to bear
Baby I'm learnin'
The wheels you see turnin'
The depths I'm enduring
You don't want me to share it....
You don't.....You don't.....

(I'm Sorry)